

The Vice-principal

Welcome to Vasantprabha College Of Nursing Buldana.

Nursing is a noble profession and professional nursing is an art and science dominated by an ideal service where domains of education are embedded. Education is all round development of nursing student that includes teaching and learning. The teacher is responsible for selection, direction and evaluation of experiences whereas the student is respondent to learning experiences.

We assure you that the quality in nursing education you hope to acquire from our institute as a pupil would equip you for an excellence in nursing service and thereby contribute for enrichment of society.

I wish you for your future endeavors.

“You don’t build a house without its Foundation. You don’t build a hospital without its Nurses”.
